Statement: The entire delay in filing the required reply from the due date for the required reply until the filing of a grantable petition under 37 CFR 1.137(b) was unintentional.

The following is a chronology leading to Unintentional Abandonment:

November 22, 2005: Prior attorney submitted the issue fee transmittal and issue fees inadvertly without submitting the corrected drawings.

February 13, 2006: Current attorney began employment at the Applicant company.

February 15, 2006: Last day of the non-extendable three-month response period.

February 17, 2006: Received files from former patent attorney.

This file was docketed as being in the process of issuance after the filing fees were submitted and no action was required by attorney. This was docketed based on the assumption that the prior attorney performed due diligence of filing the required corrected drawings upon receiving the notice of allowance and submitting the issue fee transmittal and issue fees. Hence, the USPTO did not receive the corrected drawings and issued a Notice of Abandonment.

April 3, 2006: Received Notice of Abandonment.
